

Instructor-led Pertmaster Training

Project Risk Consultants provides superior classroom training for the Primavera Pertmaster tool. Many training courses add unneeded information to increase the length and cost of the class. Vendor training is often focused on selling more licenses. We believe that by focusing on only the information and procedures needed by the organization, we can save valuable productive hours and reduce trainee confusion due to extraneous material.

Instructor-led Risk Analysis Courses

Regardless of the risk tool being used, the basic techniques, best practices, and pitfalls for doing a risk analysis are the same. Project Risk Consultants can train your team on qualitative and quantitative risk analysis in a software agnostic training course.

Customized Materials

Project Risk Consultants will focus on and customize the training to the functionality that is needed for your team. No two companies are exactly the same, so why should every training class be exactly the same?

Custom Video Training or Online Modules

Want digital training modules that your team can work with at their own pace or reference at the touch of a button? Project Risk Consultants can put together video training modules, including a web portal if needed, to host your training class online or on your server.
